

To this day, EllisDon refuses to slow down. As the industry changes at a rapid pace, and projects get greener and more technologically advanced, EllisDon strives to be at the forefront. At all levels of their organization, they are always seizing new opportunities, always inventing, developing and optimizing. They challenge the rest of the industry to keep pace.

Ian Kerr is the Director of Business Development for British Columbia at EllisDon, and is based out of Vancouver. He first joined the company in 2011 as a Project Manager, drawn in by their forward-thinking corporate culture and approach to business. He also related to the company's values, which drive the company's approach. They include: freedom,

